

A Special Open Lecture for Women Leaders Program to Promote Well-Being in Asia

Global Leader 4

Date: July 24, 2019 (Wed) 15:00~18:00

Venue: Science and Agricultural Building 329
Higashiyama Campus

1. Animal Health and Production in Near East and North Africa
2. Career Development in International Organizations

Dr. IEDA Nahoko

FAO, Cairo

The first half of the lecture will introduce the current situation of livestock production in Near East and North African region and the contributions made by the international organizations to support the countries in the region.

The second half of the lecture will focus on the career development in international organizations, including UN agencies. The lecturer will provide advice on career planning and preparation for the applications to the job vacancies, based on her personal experience.

In addition, for those who need more concrete and personalized consultation, Career Consultation Session will be open after the lecture.

Please contact to: Ayako SATONAKA, Desig. Assoc. Prof.
Well-being Program (Health Sciences)
satonaka@met.nagoya-u.ac.jp

